

Children of the Sun Trail

The 10.5 mile North Spokane Corridor (NSC) will include a parallel pedestrian-bike path along the entire route. The first section of the trail will open in 2009 from Lincoln Road to Farwell Road with the second section continuing north to Wandermere opening in 2011. Future sections will connect neighborhoods with existing trails, including the Centennial and Ben Burr trails, and scenic viewpoints of the Spokane area along the route. These will open as additional segments of the freeway are completed.

Public help was sought for naming the trail. After the names were submitted, a committee of local citizens and leaders reviewed the entries and chose the trail name "Children of the Sun", which is a phrase in the Salish language tied to the meaning of "Spokane". WSDOT then contacted the Spokane Tribe of Indians and received approval from them to use the name "Children of the Sun" Trail.

The "Children of the Sun" medallion has been incorporated into architectural features on the NSC.
